

DENIAL MANAGEMENT

DENIAL MANAGEMENT

- Denial is refusal/rejection of something requested, needed or claimed.
- In medical billing, denial is a refusal of an insurance company to pay for health care service(s) rendered by a health care professional.
- Denial management refers to, taking corrective action and preventive measures are established to avoid future occurrence.

CO16 – Claim/service lacks information which is needed for adjudication.

Reasons

- The CO16 remark code is an alert regarding missing or incomplete information that is required in order to process the claim.
- Drug name and dosage may be missing
- Additional information is required for benefit determination
- Office notes/clinical documentation requested for claim consideration
- Referring/rendering physician information may be missing
- More specific/corrected billing/coding is required
- Missing appropriate modifier, diagnosis or procedure
- Insurance need information from patient for claim processing

Suggested Action(s)

- See the explanation of additional remark code(s) on the ERA under the code 16 for further information that what type of information is requested for claim processing.
- If the additional remark code(s) is not provided, one should call insurance to get the information needed to resubmit the claim
- Provide/attach/append/rectify claim information accordingly and re-file claim

16 Claim/service lacks information which is needed for adjudication.

N4 Missing/incomplete/invalid prior insurance carrier EOB.

CO18 – Duplicate Claim/Service

Reasons

The charges submitted to insurance for processing have already been considered. This denial informs the duplicate billing, previously considered for the patient.

Reason that may cause duplicate claim are;

- If more than one claim is submitted for the same health care procedure, for the same date of service, the subsequent claim(s) will be denied as duplicate claim
- Service denied because payment already made for same/similar procedure within set time frame
- The service was billed twice but performed only once
- The service was performed more than once by the same provider, or group of providers, on the same day
- The service was performed by another provider, and payment has already been made to that provider
- The claim was re-submitted noticing no response from insurance or without corrected claim indicator

Suggested Action(s)

- Never simply resubmit a denied claim citing the reason, duplicate claim; because it will just get denied again with same reason
- Before resubmitting a claim, check claim status for previous submission to see original denial
- Fix the claim and resubmit with the correct information or appeal the original decision with additional information
- Ensure appropriate modifiers are appended to claim lines if applicable, and resubmit the claim
- Make sure to apply “corrected claim” indicator while resubmitting a modified/corrected claim

18 Duplicate claim/service.

N111 No appeal right except duplicate claim/service issue. This service was included in a claim that has been previously billed and adjudicated.

CO4 - The procedure code is inconsistent with the modifier used or a required modifier is missing

Reasons:

- Procedure code and modifier mismatch
- The reported modifier is not appropriate to describe the performed services
- Insurance requires additional information (Modifier) to process the claim

Suggested actions:

- One should review patient's account/claims to see if the submitted information is correct
- Determine (from CCI edit/coding team) which of the modifier is actually describing the performed services
- Ensure necessary, appropriate modifiers are appended in the claim
- Resubmit the claim with appropriate modifier

CO22 - Payment adjusted because this care may be covered by another payer per coordination of benefits

Coordination of benefits (COB): When a patient is covered by more than one insurance plans, then patient has to determine which insurance plan has the primary payment responsibility and which plan will act as secondary.

Reasons

- Patient has other insurance which covers the services as primary payer
- Patient has not updated the COB information
- Missing primary insurance EOB/payment information

Suggested Actions

- Verify plan's eligibility and consult COB section to confirm primary insurance
- Ensure that the correct primary insurance for the patient has been billed
- In case of missing primary payment information, talk to EDI/submission team to make sure it was sent in/with respective segment-loop/HCFR form or resubmit with primary EOB
- If COB information is not updated by the patient, then bill the patient with rejection type: 19 - Insurance needs COB information from patient.

CO27 - Expenses incurred after coverage terminated

Reasons

- Termination of insurance coverage prior to receiving the services
- The date of service is subsequent to the termination of coverage

Suggested Action

- Verify that the claim was created in correct patient's account
- Compare patient's credentials from insurance card/information we've with the credentials that are submitted to insurance
- Check the patient's eligibility for current and previous service dates;
- If patient has active coverage on the visit date, then generate a call with reprocessing request
- If patient didn't have coverage at the time the services were performed, then patient should be billed with reason insurance coverage lapsed/did not exist

B15 - Payment adjusted because this procedure/service is not paid separately

Reasons

- Service is not performed along with other services billed
- Procedure is mutually exclusive to another procedure on claim
- Service is not separately payable and is considered component of procedure(s) rendered on the same date for the same patient by the same doctor
- Same/similar service was recently billed for this condition
- Charges are included in global fee of primary charges
- Multiple, simultaneous services are submitted to insurance
- Billed services may not be paid separately, additional information (Modifier/Medical notes) required for claim processing

Suggested Actions

- Check the NCCI edits through Encoder Pro to ensure that most comprehensive codes are billed and to determine, if the submitted service is bundled with another service or is component of other procedure performed on the same date
- If it is a separate/distinct service, appropriate modifier is used to denote as a separate service for reimbursement
- Medical notes may also support to prove the Medical Necessity

Example

CO29 - The time limit for filing has expired

Reason

- Charges are submitted after the defined filing limit by the payer

Suggested Actions

- Once denied post LF-Late Filing entry in claim
- An appeal within the appeal filing limit accompanying supporting documentation is prepared and filed to insurance by our Appeal Team as a re-determination to consider the claim for payment
- If denied erroneously resubmit with proof of submission or get it reprocessed through reopening line
- A claim that has reached its filing limit should be submitted with appropriate LF indicator in first submission to prevent late filing denial

LF Indicators

- Proof of Eligibility Unknown or Unavailable
- Litigation
- Authorization Delays
- Delay in Certifying Provider
- Delay in Supplying Billing Forms
- Delay in Delivery of Custom-made Appliances
- Third Party Processing Delay
- Delay in Eligibility Determination
- Original Claim Rejected or Denied Due to a Reason unrelated to the Billing Limitation Rules
- Administration Delay in the Prior Approval Process

Payment adjusted because 'New Patient' qualifications were not met

Reason

- New patient code is billed for an established patient

Suggested Action

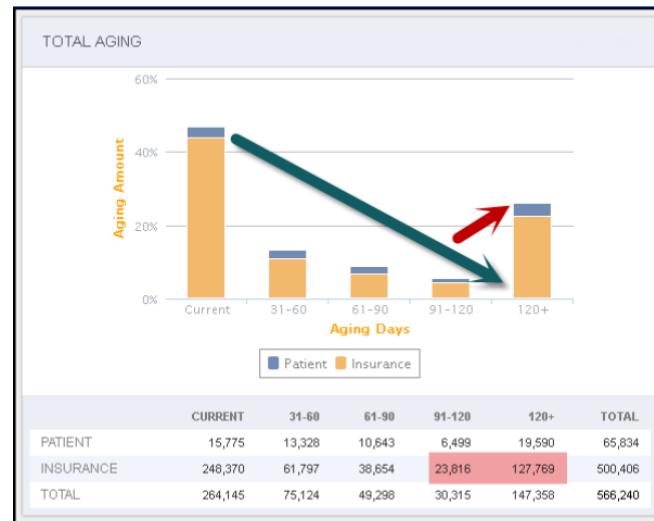

- Submit the claims with established patient visit

- What are 5 key reasons for claim denial?

FOLLOW UP

Follow Up

- Accounts receivable or A/R is a term used to denote money owed to a practice for the billed services. Payments due from patients and payers are considered A/R.
- Insurance companies use stall tactics to delay payment and it is inevitable to manage the A/R ensuring that the practices are getting paid correctly and in a timely manner.
- An increase in A/R from one A/R bucket to next or higher is a sign that monies are not being collected timely. Lack of follow up portends cash flow troubles and causes client complaints.

Follow Up Steps

- First step of follow up is to find out the reason why the claim is pending
- Check the current status of the claim through available resources i.e. web portal, interactive voice response (IVR), fax or live call
 - Web Portal is an efficient source of follow up which is an online to find out eligibility, benefits and claim status. It requires a user name and password that is used to log in to the portal
 - Interactive voice response (IVR) is a technology that allows a computer to interact with humans through the use of voice input via phone keypad. It also facilitates to check eligibility and claim status
 - Live call should be last option to be used for follow up activity. However, telephonic appeals and claim review require interaction with a live representative
 - Fax option may be used to request status of a claim or to request a copy of an EOB

Follow-up steps with hierarchy

Paid Claim

- For a paid claim, if paid date is current then one should wait for some time to receive ERA/EOB
- If paid date is older, then get the complete detail including check/EFT number and post the payment according to doctor office instructions

Claim Processed with Patient Portion

- If claim is processed with any patient liability, then;
 - Bill to secondary payer (if exists)
 - Bill to patient in absence of secondary insurance plan.

Not On File

- If a claim is found “not on file”, it was submitted electronically
 - Check EMC# of submitted carrier is correct
 - Verify acceptance/rejection of claim
 - If it is rejected, fix the claim according to reason of rejection
 - On receipt of acceptance verify payer information and further follow up with insurance referring to received acceptance.
- If it was a paper submission:
 - Verify mailing address of to see it was submitted on the correct address
 - Look up in returned mail to find out the reason of returned claim
 - Lastly, resubmit only if you don't find any evidence in the above verification

If claim is found to be denied, then perform analysis to determine:

- The denial reason
- The root cause of the denial
- The impact of denial (payer level, account level and No. of effected claims)
- The Course of action to deal with the denial
- Appropriate action on the effected claim(s)
- Necessary action steps or define a procedure to avoid the occurrence of the specific denial in future.

- What are the actions we can take to follow-up on pending payment?

APPEAL DRAFTING

What is an Appeal

- An appeal is the action one can take if one disagrees with a coverage or payment decision made by insurance.
- One has the right to appeal on a claim that is initially submitted with incorrect information containing data-entry error like wrong date of service or on inappropriately paid or denied claims such as late filing, prior authorization and vice versa for review and reprocessing.

Appeal Drafting Guidelines

Identify and understand why the claim was denied:

- First find out if claim needs to be appealed. See denial reason(s) on explanation of benefits (EOB) or electronic remittance advice (ERA) to determine if this can be appealed
- If it is still not clear why the claim was denied, contact insurance company and ask the reason of denial
- If it has been determined that an appeal has to be filed, then adopt the appropriate method of appeal.
- Some denials may be requested for review based on a telephone conversation.
- For some, a written appeal can be filed as per the appeal filing guidelines accompanying supporting documentation in order for the claim to be reconsidered for processing.

Appeal Drafting Guidelines

Write to the insurance company, following their guidelines:

- An effective appeal is more than a letter demanding payment; it is an argument supported by evidence
- Examine the insurance company's reasoning for denial
- Make a list of the reason(s) that one disagrees with the insurance's decision
- It is important to use appropriate appeal forms according to State and insurance as some insurance plans require to use their own forms for appeals
- Begin appeal letter from salutation, then give the reference - patient, date of service and the claim number.
- Describe the service for which payment was denied. Keep the focus on writing the reason for review and possible reimbursements

Incorporate evidence with right paperwork:

- To dispute a denial based on the necessity of a service or the need to provide it as a distinct service, it should be accompanied by supportive references, published reimbursement policies by an insurance, referrals, prescriptions from the doctor and any relevant information such as medical history that may help the claim get approved the second time around

Appeal correspondence/submission:

- It is important to file/submit the appeal to right corresponding address. Mostly payers have a designated address (physical and postal) for sending appeals. This information may be included on the patient's insurance card. One can also communicate with the insurance to obtain the correspondence details
- If there is no response from insurance in a reasonable time, the status of initial appeal must be checked first before appealing on same claim

Follow up with the insurance company:

- Once an appeal is submitted, it's important to follow up in 30 days by calling the insurance as some insurance companies will allow claims to suffer for months if no one follows up.
- Calls must be made at regular intervals if there is no reply from the insurance company. If the company doesn't receive an appeal, the appeal should be faxed followed by confirming whether or not they have received the fax.

Stay organized by maintaining the logs:

- All the details of conversations with insurance, should be documented
- Important points, such as name and the job title of the person spoken to, date of conversation, call reference number, should be noted down
- If an appeal was submitted, the “document control number” should also be obtained
- This information will help to quickly access all the necessary information for follow up call with insurance

Example

- Most of the payers accept the online appeals submitted through their web portal. One can check online if the respective payer accepts online appeals.
- One can also obtain appeal forms from web portal.
- One can also call at help line of the payer to find out appeal process.

PAYMENT TERMINOLOGY

- Capitation is a flat monthly fee that is paid to a provider by the healthcare insurance at the start of each month for the delivery of healthcare services to each patient on the capitation list
- Capitation list is a list of patients prepared by healthcare insurance against which provider is paid the monthly capitation
- Not every patient has to be seen each month for the provider to receive this fee
- Capitation payments are used by managed care organizations to control health care costs
- The actual amount of money paid is determined by the ranges of services that are provided, the number of patients involved, and the period of time during which the services are provided

Capitation: Claim Submission Response

- CO24 – Payment for charges adjusted. Charges are covered under a capitation agreement/managed care plan.

Reasons

- Above denial is received when:
- Patient is enrolled in Medicare advantage plan or Medicaid manage care plan / Service is covered by a managed care plan Provider is in capitation agreement with insurance company and already been paid through a capitation agreement.

Suggested Action

- In case of Medicare and Medicaid, check eligibility information from real time or through insurance website to obtain advantage or managed care plan information Update Medicare advantage or managed care plan information and re-file claim Check either your practice/provider is in capitation agreement with payer, if yes adjust the claim with adjustment code 24, if no, generate call for reprocessing

- If the sum of payment & adjustment gets greater than the claim's charged or billed amount, it creates an overpayment/adjustment in a claim. The over payment in the claim is quoted as negative value and that claim is called a negative balance claim or an overpaid claim.
- Types of an overpayment
 - Insurance overpayment
 - Patient overpayment
 - Human error

Insurance overpayment

In this scenario, insurance payment or adjustment in a claim turns out to be more than the claim's charged amount due to one of the below reasons;

- Multiple submissions or multiple insurances processed the claim as primary
- Processing error
- Duplicate claim entered

- When a patient paid more than their actual liability it will be an overpaid claim at patient end.
- Reasons
 - Multiple payments from patient for same claim/date of service.
 - Patient paid more than his/her responsibility.
